

MANY IMPROVEMENTS*AT THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS

Re-arrangements of Buildings and Improvement of the Grounds. Prospects for the Biggest Yet

Many alterations have been made in the grounds and buildings of the exhibition association in preparation for their big fair next week.

A sidewalk has been constructed by the town from the C. N. R. depot to the main entrance, thus making a continuous stretch of walk from Jasper avenue to the grounds and doing away with the unpleasant tramp through the dust or mud which has been one of the drawbacks of the fair in years gone by to many of the citizens. A system of draining has been put in, the grounds having been thoroughly tiled, that the water may be drained off in the shortest possible time should the weather man prove unkind during the exhibition.

The band stand has been removed from its former position in the rear of the grand stand to a location just north thereof. Large swing gates have been put on each end of the grand stand to facilitate the exit of the crowd and prevent a repetition of the crush which occurred on one or two occasions last year between the incoming and outgoing crowds. An extension has also been made to the front of the stand roof to protect the lower benches from the sun and rain.

The horsemen who "visit" the fair this year will find new stables waiting them with accommodation for forty horses, conveniently situated to the track and arranged with all the conveniences for the care of the racers.

New buildings have also been erected for the displays of poultry and dogs and a new pen erected for the swine exhibit.

From present appearances the enterprise of the directors in undertaking these permanent improvements has been fully justified. Already entries have begun to come in in large numbers and it is certain that in nearly every class the exhibits will outnumber those of any previous season.

Lovers of horse races are certain to see some good sport. There are now at the grounds over twenty horses getting in shape for the different events and those now here are nearly all local horses, from points throughout the district; those from a distance not having arrived yet. As nearly as can be ascertained, the secretary expects from sixty to seventy horses to be here for the races.

The diamond in the centre of the course has been worked down for the baseball tournament and the first game on the new grounds will be played tonight between the Strathcona team and the local aggregation.

With the improvements made and the widespread interest being taken in the fair the event should be the biggest yet held here.

Ontario People Coming*Free Press:

A special train carrying 384 Ontarians arrived in Winnipeg this afternoon, and left again for the west at 3 o'clock. There was hardly a district in the whole of Ontario which was not represented on the train. They came from all parts between Kingston and Windsor and between the lakes and the C. P. R. main line. The weather was ideal and there was not a single ground of complaint. Many of those on board are going west as far as Calgary and Edmonton, while others are taking trips over the different branch lines. This is the first of these excursions this year, but the company intends running a series of them at the greatly reduced rate.

Second Pennsylvania*Free Press:

"That entire coal country along the Crow's Nest Pass lies in Alberta, including Frank, Morrissey, Coleman and other places, will be a second Pennsylvania," Mr. J. J. Bright told us yesterday. "The rapid development in the East Kootenay coal country. Mr. Bright has just returned from Coleman, where he graded eight miles of roads and put in the foundations for coke ovens for the International Coal and Coke Co., who also own the Granby smelter. 'Coleman,' Mr. Bright says, 'was started last October, and now has a population of 600, while the mine and erecting coke ovens. The company expects soon to be able to get out 1,000 tons of coal, and make 500 tons of coke daily. No coal is being shipped as yet, but when ready the railway companies will take all the supply."

Mr. Bright is a guest at The Marriage, and leaves tomorrow to look over some Canadian Northern grade work near Battleford.

PARLIAMENT

Special Correspondence:

The Dundonald incident occupied the attention of Parliament during the whole of yesterday. The question had been raised during the previous day and the Government had promised a statement. The statement was made by Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who was Acting Minister of Militia when the action complained of by Lord Dundonald took place.

The Minister made a short statement to the effect that being familiar with that part of the country in which it was proposed to raise the new Dragoon corps he had taken an interest in the list of appointments suggested. While acting as Minister of Militia it had become necessary to officially sanction the appointments made. He had objected to the appointment of Dr. Pickel as Major, on the ground that he had no military qualifications. He had received a letter from the commanding officer, Colonel Smart, stating that Dr. Pickel withdrew from the position. He had then, acting as Minister of Militia, struck out the name of Dr. Pickel and approved the list as it stood. He made no reflection upon the action of Lord Dundonald beyond suggesting that he might have been expected to make his objections to the Government rather than to his subordinates.

At the conclusion of the Minister's statement, Colonel Hughes read a document which had been forwarded him by Lord Dundonald with the statement that a copy had been forwarded to the Minister of Militia. This document was chiefly composed of letters from Colonel Smart in connection with the organization of the battalion, in which Smart complained of the interference of the Minister of Agriculture and directly contradicted the letter which he had written to the Minister stating that Dr. Pickel had withdrawn voluntarily from the position of Major.

The Premier, dealing with the question, said that he would not discuss Lord Dundonald's action or its possible results. He would merely say that when a militia corps was being organized it was desirable that the best interests of the country should be served as far as could only be by consulting representatives of all important interests. Apparently in the organization of the proposed corps, Colonel Smart had by accident or design confined his recommendations to pronounced politicians of the Conservative party. As the country looked to both Liberals and Conservatives to fill the ranks, it seemed not unreasonable that Liberals as well as Conservatives should be permitted to rank as officers.

The Minister of Agriculture was very much better acquainted with the locality and the people than were either Colonel Smart or Lord Dundonald, and it was not unreasonable that he should make suggestions, or that the Government should accept those suggestions in preference to those of Colonel Smart or of Lord Dundonald. He did not understand Lord Dundonald's position in regard to what he called interference on the part of the Government in militia appointments. Lord Dundonald must understand that in this country the Government governs, and that while they are prepared to accept advice from their officers they still maintain the right to reject it if they see fit. He said: "In making appointments we will use our best judgment but will not be dragged even by Lord Dundonald."

The debate was continued from the Opposition side, until a late hour; the speakers on that side one, and all taking the position that Lord Dundonald should be regarded as the supreme and irresponsible head of the militia forces of Canada; and that any interference with his suggestions was political, and therefore, objectionable.

From the facts as stated it would appear that there was a direct and definite attempt on the part of Colonel Smart, whether with or without Lord Dundonald's connivance, to establish a militia corps in this particular section of the Eastern Townships which should be to all intents and purposes a Conservative political organization or military Conservative club. This was the condition which had prevailed under the previous government, and it was not considered to be a desirable condition from any point of view, either political or military. But when action was taken to prevent this political scheme from being carried into effect, then those who arearies to it raised the cry of political interference. Give them their own way in everything and there is no politics in it; but prevent them from having their own way in everything and at once it is political interference.

There could not be a clearer case of attempting to make political capital out of a militia matter than was apparent in the course of the debate. Not a man on the Opposition side but knew that in this country of responsible government the Government must be supreme; and not a man versed in the slightest degree in military matters, but knew that the action of an officer criticizing his superiors to his subordinates is absolutely unpardonable from a military point of view and creates an impossible position; and still every man speaking on the Opposition side declared that Lord Dundonald had been wronged in that his recommendations of his subordinates had not been accepted without question; and that he was right in using the opportunity of a public banquet to discredit those, who, for the time being, were his superiors in office.

What the ultimate result will be as between Lord Dundonald and the Government is as yet undecided; but his throwing himself into the hands of the Opposition by furnishing the memorandum which he did to Colonel Hughes for use in the debate of Friday makes himself and his action a political issue, by the consequences of which he must be content to abide.

Ottawa, June 11th, 1904.

RE-ARRANGING THE RINK

Within the next few days extensive alterations will be made in the rink theatre, for the purpose of increasing its attractiveness and convenience for the larger Prince Opera Co., who will open here next week. H. D. Johnston, architect, has prepared plans for the staging, dressing rooms, etc., and when these are carried out, the rink will be one of the most commodious and best appointed places of amusement in the West.

The stage which will be erected in the north end of the building will be 20 feet square, with a height of 20 feet. It will be raised five feet from the floor, thus enabling the stage to be at the same level as the hall. On the wings four large dressing rooms will be arranged for the convenience of the members of the company. The lighting of this stage will be a feature. The lighting will consist of a row of 15 incandescent and the border lights 7 sets of 15 lights each. These will be arranged on separate switches, thus giving complete control over the stage lighting and permitting the adjustment of the lights to suit the performance.

The front of the stage will be handsomely decorated with flags and bunting.

The decorations now in the auditorium will remain and seats will be accommodated 1800 people. Large areas will be left and an efficient staff of waiters put on for the coming week.

The waiting rooms beside the main entrance will be remodelled and refitted, one as a ladies' retiring and dressing room, the other as a gentlemen's smoking room.

When these arrangements are completed the hall should be among the best in Western Canada for operas, theatres, concerts and balls.

GAZETTE NOTICES

JUDGES APPOINTED.

The Directors of the Exhibition Association met yesterday in the office of the Secretary.

The following judges were appointed for several departments:

Butter—C. M. Nairn.
Cheese—W. S. Robertson.
Bread, Buns and Preserves—J. Lauder Sr.

Arts and School Exhibits—K. W. MacKenzie.

Graeas—J. McKernan.

Horticulture—J. McKernan, J. Launder Sr.

Manufactures, Class 38—T. Bellamy.

Milk and delivery wagons will be admitted to the grounds free as usual.

It was decided to ask the press to call the attention of exhibitors to the fact that possibly no entries of exhibits will be taken after June 29th. The Directors would consider it a good idea if entries were rushed in at once, as the entries this year will far surpass in number those of any previous season.

MINES CLOSED: OTHERS OPENED

The coal mines below town which have been worked for some time by Messrs. W. F. Baldwin and J. Milner will close early in July, when the present leases expire. As the mines are on the jail property the government decided not to renew the leases.

Mr. Milner has secured a mine at Clover Bar with a good seam and is preparing to work it. A shed will be built in town with a storage capacity of about 500 tons. The coal will be brought up from the mines.

The new mine opened up recently by John Cameron near his residence in the east end is now being worked by seven men.

Ran About Naked

Winnipeg Telegram:

There have been the "Wild man from Borneo," the "Wild Man from the Yukon," the "Wild Man from Newark," and several other of the breed, but the latest is the "Wild Man from Rosser."

This morning early, William Nixon and Charles Reilly were digging a well near Rosser, when they were alarmed by an individual cutting all sorts of capers on the prairie. He had disrobed himself of his clothes and was running amuck stark naked. It was impossible for the diggers to make head or tail of his utterances beyond identifying a few "cuss" words that fell from his lips. They chased him this way and that until at last they managed to corner him. The struggle was a fierce one, and eventually the nude gentleman was subdued. It took the two men several minutes to force the muddy clothes on the insane man, but at last the work was accomplished and the "Wild Man from Rosser" was loaded into a wagon and hustled to the city.

The two men drove post haste to the police headquarters and the wild man was placed in a cell. It was impossible for anybody to get an intelligent report from the frantic creature. He unbraided a string which the shrewd fugitive had about the station failed to recognize. He gave his name as Hans Tams, but this was only a guess. For more than a week now the vicinity of Rosser has been startled with the actions of some peculiar individual who has not only made night hideous but frightened women and children during the daylight hours. This individual is evidently the person. Now that he has been placed safely under lock and key the residents of Rosser are breathing easier.

The decorations now in the auditorium will remain and seats will be accommodated 1800 people. Large areas will be left and an efficient staff of waiters put on for the coming week.

The waiting rooms beside the main entrance will be remodelled and refitted, one as a ladies' retiring and dressing room, the other as a gentlemen's smoking room.

When these arrangements are completed the hall should be among the best in Western Canada for operas, theatres, concerts and balls.

Calgary News

From the Herald:
Joseph La Rose, a well known Edmonton man, is a visitor here.

The name of Dr. Rouleau, of this city is mentioned in connection with a senatorship. A petition is being circulated among the Catholics of the North West asking that Dr. Rouleau be appointed to a seat in the senate. This petition is being largely signed.

The Canadian Mounted Rifles, or the Alberta Light Horse, to go into camp Monday morning at Victoria Park. They muster 80 strong, under the command of Captain and Acting-Major Barwick. This corps was organized two years ago and has already made a reputation for itself in rifle shooting. The annual training will last 12 days. On the first day there will be military sports, musical ride, etc.

J. T. Gordon, M.P.P., of the firm of Gordon, Ironside & Company, who has been spending some days in visiting the firm's Alberta ranches, has returned to Winnipeg. The company do not intend to bring many more cattle from Mexico to Canada this season. In Mexico they have had plenty of rain and the ranges are in good shape. Besides everything seems prosperous.

To the Public

Having sold my dental practice and good will to Dr. Lowther and Robertson, I wish to thank my patrons and clients for their patronage in the past and ask them, as a matter of personal concern, to extend the same to my successors, as they have no equals in the West and far superior anywhere. Dr. Lowther has been associated with me for some time, both here and in the East. If a brilliant college course in one of America's greatest medical schools, if honesty, sobriety and skill count for anything, then I have no doubt in recommending Dr. Lowther and Robertson to my friends. Sincerely yours,

PRIVATE BILLS

DISCUSSED BY THE HOUSE

Last Day of the Session for Private Members' Bills

Bulletin Special Dispatch.

Ottawa, June 20.—This was the last private members' day of the session. A motion by Logan to give a tariff preference on goods coming through Canadian ports was discussed but no result was reached. Lancaster's railway crossing bill was discussed.

MacLaren's anti-digitalis bill was passed in committee of the whole and stands for third reading. It was strongly opposed in committee and several close votes were taken. Operation of the act was postponed until January 1st, 1906, so as to permit of stocks on hand being disposed of and to give opportunity for alterations of business.

Ottawa, June 21st.—In the House of Commons to-day, Hon. Clifford Sloane read a statement to the effect that certain individuals in Great Britain were engaged in making fraudulent representations to intending immigrants to Canada, by guaranteeing positions or otherwise.

The Government is doing its utmost to stop the fraud by advertising in the papers and by communicating with the Imperial authorities with a view to having the guilty ones prosecuted.

The Tb. William Incendiary Confessed Yesterday to Burning the C.P.R. Stock Yard Buildings

Bulletin Special Dispatch.

Winnipeg, June 21st.—By the confession yesterday afternoon of Adolf Taucob charged with incendiarism at Fort William a great mystery has been solved. Perhaps no one man in Western Canada ever maliciously caused the destruction which has been wrought by this man who though here but a year and a half has been burning buildings for over a year. The first important fire was that which caused the destruction of the city hall a year ago last spring. Taucob was discharged by the town foreman two days prior to this conflagration. The burning of the MacDonald engineering plant followed, and previous to the fire Taucob had also worked for this company.

War Notes

Admiral Togo reports that a squadron from his fleet bombarded the Russians on June 6th, between Kaiping and Sungyue River. It reconnoitred the coast and returned to the rendezvous on June 12th. It reported that the enemy's infantry and cavalry, numbering 3,000, stationed near Kaiping, with the object of preventing a Japanese landing, fled after the bombardment.

After recording the stoppage of a train, previously reported, Admiral Togo continues: "On the morning of June 8th we shelled two companies of infantry and a squadron of cavalry at Kaiping, inflicting great loss. The captain of a steamship leaving Yin-Kow on June 7th says that owing to the bombardments 5,000 Russians, with 20 guns, evacuated Yin Kow and retreated northward. Two Russians captured by one of our torpedo boats on June 10th, say that a Russian force of 5,000 men, under Gen. Samsonoff, arrived at Wafangkou on May 21. They also state that three or four trains reach Nanching daily. Our combined squadrons have strengthened the blockade, and is now covering the rear of the forces ashore. Our fourth destroyer flotilla shelled the enemy effectively around Kunmingze for two hours on June 16th. The second flotilla, reconnoitring at Tallenwan, found four Russian destroyers off Son-sho Point on June 10th, and engaged them. But they retreat, forthwith. The mine dragging progressed. We have destroyed thirty mines on the high seas, besides some floating near the harbors, several of them northward of Iron Island. The weather was extremely foggy during the past week. Hardly there were no accidents."

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Hamburg says that a private telegram received there states that a Russian squadron, composed of forty large and small warships, had passed Bornholm Island, in the Baltic, steaming westward. This is possibly the Baltic fleet, but it cannot be ascertained whether it is on a trial trip or has actually departed for the Far East.

Italians on C.N.R. Quit Work

Eighty-four Italians have arrived in Winnipeg from Erwood, on the Canadian Northern Railway, where they went out on strike the other day. They asked for more money, it is understood, and when this was refused they decided to strike. The men were employed on the grading, and when their demands were not forthcoming, they simply laid down their tools and waited for the first train that would take them out of that locality.

A train to Dauphin was boarded, but when the conductor came around to collect the fares there were no tickets forthcoming. The Italians, it is stated, refused either to pay their way or to leave the train. With threats they are said to have taken possession and to have ordered the conductor to take them as far as Dauphin.

At Dauphin it was decided by the company to take them as far as Winnipeg and on Thursday the motley crew reached the city.

Leduc News

From the Record:

Messrs. Telford, Glanville and Gaetz visited Wetaskiwin the latter part of last week as a committee gleaned information on the subject of fire protection for the village. They speak well of the Wetaskiwin folks and the council in particular, as entertainers, and agree that the Wetaskiwin city fathers did all in the power to make their visit both pleasant and instructive. The committee were offered the hand pump and 450 feet of hose $150. When more information on the subject has been obtained, a public meeting will be called and the matter laid before them.

The Macabees, strawberry and cream social held on Friday evening of last week was an unqualified success.

The streets were wet and muddy and rain fell throughout the evening, still the hall was comfortably full, which is proof of the popularity of the K.O.T.M. local tent.

Had the evening been fine, many country visitors and local residents would also have been there, which would have made it an uncomfortable crowd.

As it was, all the available chairs, forms, etc., were occupied. Messrs. Craig, Heath, Lake and others kindly supplied the music during the evening with piano and violin. The takings for the evening amounted to something over forty dollars, and should go a good way towards defraying the cost of the new regalia, for which object the social was held.

What might easily have resulted in a serious or a series of accidents happened yesterday through a team careering down the main street, narrowly escaping collision with vehicles on its way. The team, not satisfied with its first parade described a circle on the vacant ground near the C.P.R. depot, and again entered the main thoroughfare, but only went a short distance before colliding with another wagon. Fortunately no one was hurt, and the team also escaped injury; but wonderful to relate, the wagon attached to the runaway team was almost completely wrecked, while the one with which it came in such violent contact was left intact.

Leduc is growing so rapidly that neither of our public halls are large enough for the requirements of the village, and the seating accommodation in both is sadly neglected. A large hall with a good floor for dancing and suitable stage for travelling shows would be a paying concern.

Col. Girouard Dismissed

London, June 16.—A Reuter message says there is little doubt but that the resignation of Sir Edward Girouard will give relief to Milner, who has been embarrassed by the situation.

The news says: The dismissal of Girouard has followed promptly upon the thinnily veiled vote of censure by the intercolonial council. Lord Milner is the person at whom the vote was directed, and Girouard, who is an instrument of his grandiose designs, is merely the scapegoat who happened to be handiest.

A dispatch to the Chronicle from Paris indicates that Lord Milner seems to have definitely abandoned the expression of want of confidence in Girouard. High official circles are much embarrassed by the delicacy of the situation.

Qu'Appelle Progress:
The rain and hail storm of Friday last was particularly severe in the Grassmere district. Several farms in that section state that their grain was beaten down, and about one-half of the crop cut off. The ground was covered with snow and ice, and hail lay on the ground until 8 o'clock next morning. The chief result will be delaying the harvest four or five days, which is a serious matter here.

The New York Ferry Horror

The New York ferry disaster is one of the most appalling of modern times.

Laden with a thousand excursionists, mostly women and children, the big steamer General Slocum caught fire in the waters of Hell Gate and from three hundred to five hundred persons perished in the flames or were drowned. It is impossible to more than estimate the loss of life. The disaster is the most appalling that has ever occurred in New York harbor, and is made more distressing by the fact that most of those who lost their lives were women or children of tender age.

The excursion was given under the auspices of St. Mark's German Lutheran church, of which Rev. George C. F. Haas is the pastor. The General Slocum left her pier at the foot of Third street a few minutes after 9 o'clock. The steamer proceeded up East river, every deck crowded with merrymakers, the band playing and flags flying. The Slocum had reached a point near the sunken meadows at the extreme eastern end of Randall's island when fire broke out in the lunch room in the boat, and some members of the crew endeavored to extinguish the flames. Their efforts were unavailing, and in an incredibly short time the fire gained uncontrollable headway, and clouds of smoke began to roll back through the crowded decks. The flames followed instantly and a wild panic ensued.

Hemmied in by the rocks of Hell Gate, the captain was unable to turn his vessel in the channel, and, crowding on all steam he made for North Brother island, directly ahead. According to the best evidence no attempt was made to lower boats or life rafts.

The excursion was in charge of the social committee of the church, headed by Miss Mary Abendschein. In the minister's party, his son said, were the pastor, Miss Abendschein, Assistant Superintendent Carl Anger, William Schlafer, the pastor's daughter, Gertrude, his sister, Miss Emma Haas, and W. E. Telmore. At the office of the United States steamboat inspection bureau, it was said that the General Slocum was inspected on May 5, and was reported to be in a thoroughly good condition and ready for the excursion season. Aboard the steamer was all the life-saving apparatus required by law of steamers of her capacity, 2,500. The General Slocum's licensed captain is Capt. W. H. Vanschack, one of the oldest excursion captains in New York harbor waters.

The Slocum sailed from the foot of Third street, East river, shortly after 9 o'clock. The exact point she had reached when flames were discovered in the front of the boat, was off the Sunken Meadows at the extreme east end of Randall's island. So quiet was the spread of the flames that the captain of the Slocum could not turn and was forced to make head-on for North Brother island under full steam. By the time the Slocum reached 135th street, the excursionists, driven to the rail, many of them with their clothing on fire, began to jump overboard by twos and threes. When 138th street had been reached, the heat from the fire had become so intense that men, women and children plunged overboard by the score.

There was a terrific crash when the boat was beached on the reef at the northern end of North Brother island and she rapidly burned to the water's edge. When the alarm spread among the passengers the hurricane deck was crowded, and when off 138th street this deck collapsed. Many persons were thrown into the water, but hundreds of them were precipitated into the lower deck, which was itself crowded with women and children. Many of the bodies recovered were horribly burned.

Edward Weaver and Edward Vanwart, the pilots of the boat, were arrested, along with the captain, and were then transferred to the Harlem hospital. Captain W. H. Vanschack, captain of the Slocum, who is at a station, said: "The Slocum left the foot of East 23rd street at 9:30 this morning. There had been collected from those on board 982 tickets. The boat passed slowly up the river through Hell Gate, and over toward Sunken Meadows, where the Cawana was burned in '78. When close to the Meadows an alarm of fire was given. At that time I was in the pilot house. I jumped down to the deck and gave immediate orders for fighting the fire. The fire drill was sounded and the crew of the boat, numbering 25 men, worked like jiggers to get the water onto that part of the boat which was burning. The fire was under the forward boilers on the port side, 1 mile out in the excitement. My men were exerting their effort toward keeping the passengers from jumping. The fire was gaining every instant and the cries of people missing.

Burning to death could be heard above every other sound.

"I got the boat under way for North Brother island, which was the safest place to attempt to land. The boat was driven on under full speed and pulled up sideways to the shore of the island. Many had jumped prior to this. Many were jumping every instant. My pilots, Edward Vanwart and Edward M. E. Weaver were doing everything to get safely toward shore, and engineer B. F. Conklin stuck in the hold. Mate Edward Flannigan had charge of the fire brigade, but when the fire spread over all, we had to get off the boat. My hat was burning when I jumped and I was pulled out of the water and hauled up on shore under a tree before I remembered what had happened."

Many of the children picked up by small boats were lashed to camp-stools and other light boat furniture showing that some adult had tried to make the little ones safe. These precautions proved inadequate in the terrific current and in the whirlpools. Very few of the children picked up had on life preservers. Children cannot get at the life preservers on excursion boats in this harbor. They are lashed to the ceilings over the decks and can only be reached by a tall person.

John Edel, 22 years old, one of the survivors of the disaster, gave the following account of his terrible experience, his mother and little brother being drowned before his eyes: "When we left the pier the decks were packed to the limit of their capacity. The band was playing, the children were frolicking about and we were all having a fine time. As we neared Hell Gate the children were called down to the lower deck where ice cream and soda water were served. The children were falling over each other in an effort to get to the tables which held the refreshments. With my mother and my little brother Paul I went to the engine room to watch the machinery. Suddenly and without the least warning there was a burst of flame from the furnace room that rushed up through the engine room and flashed out about us. The flames spread with the rapidity of an explosion, setting fire to the clothing of the women and children who were grouped about the engine room watching the machinery. There was the most terrible panic as the burning women and children rushed out among those surrounding the ice cream and soda water tables, screaming with pain. In the terrible scramble my mother and little brother were swept from me and carried forward to the side, where the children and women with their clothes burning had begun to jump into the water. The flames spread in bursts that soon had the entire deck enveloped."

"The crew were helpless to render any assistance or make efforts to check the advance of the fire. We were passing through Hell Gate when the fire started. The captain headed the boat toward North Brother island and the pilots who were with him yelled franticly to us to stay aboard until they beached the boat. But in a moment after the flames had burst from the engine room great numbers began to jump overboard. The women were wild with fright, and snatching their children to them leaped into the whirlpools that carried them towards the rocks on both shores. I endeavored for a few minutes to break through the mad crush and get to my mother and little brother, but I was swept into one corner of the boat and held there, unable to move. As the boat kept on her way the breeze drove the flames toward the after part of the ship, where those who in their panic had not jumped overboard, were huddled together. It seemed but a few seconds before the flames had swept down upon the children who were struggling about the ice cream tables, and set their clothing ablaze.

"They all rushed to the after part of the ship in a stampede that carried those who were near the rail overboard against their will. At one time it seemed to me as if the women and children were pouring over the sides like a water fall. As we made for the shore the captain blew his whistle in one continuous blast, and soon boats of all descriptions were making for us from every side of the river. I was rescued by a launch just as the boat settled close to the shore. When she was grounded the flames had spread over the entire upper and lower decks. There were only a few spots on the boat untouched by the flames, and in these were piled up the women who had fainted and falling, women who had fallen and falling, men pinned others to the deck. The men from the tug, who could get near the steamboat shored for those on the boat to jump and then the small boats picked them up by the score. Those in the after portion of the boat did not know it was on fire until the flames had swept back to them. Then there was nothing to do but jump overboard or be burned to death.

"Over 500 bodies have been recovered from the wreck and 800 more are missing.
